Where To Get The Best Negronis In Miami

By Sarah Finkel | September 21, 2023 | Food & Drink

Ah, the negroni. A liquid concoction of Italian sophistication. Some might say only the mature drinker can appreciate the bitter tang of this fashionable aperitif. Consisting of equal parts gin, Campari, and sweet vermouth, the negroni embodies serious elegance in an old fashioned glass. For peak enjoyment, this classy cocktail should be sipped and savored before or after dinner, preferably while dressed in chic Italian linen. Now that you're longing for a negroni, look no further than these ten popular bars for the best negronis in Miami.

The ScapeGoat

100 Collins Ave. / Website

Escape to negroni heaven at The ScapeGoat, an Ariete Hospitality Group establishment. It's a lively, dimly-lit bar tucked away on a side street in the South of Fifth neighborhood—be warned, it can get quite noisy, but the energy is unmatched. The traditional negroni recipe is the move here and hits just right, as will any of the cocktails in their selection. Come here for your pre-dinner negroni fix while you wait for your table at a South of Fifth hotspot.
